Born and raised in the Alexandria area, Dr. Vinod “V” Chopra is a Northern Virginia native. Dr. Chopra stayed local for medical school before traveling to complete residencies in general and plastic surgery, a fellowship at Weill-Cornell Medical Center in New York and an ASAPS-endorsed fellowship in Advanced Aesthetic Surgery Techniques.

As one of the few surgeons to complete a cosmetic and aesthetic fellowship through the American Society of Aesthetic Plastic Surgery, Dr. Chopra specializes in surgical and non-surgical procedures, from breast augmentation, body contouring, and “mommy makeovers” to dermal filler, brow lifts and non-surgical rhinoplasty.

Dr. Chopra and his team at Chantilly Cosmetic Surgery are always looking for the newest treatments to offer their clients. They are the first plastic surgery practice in DC and Virginia to offer the new Coolsculpting Elite machine, which is a relaxing, non-invasive liposuction method that can do twice the amount of work as regular Coolsculpting machines.

Outside of his practice, Dr. Chopra is passionate about helping his community, particularly focusing on the onset of childhood obesity. He is a member of the Plastic Surgery Advocacy Committee, where plastic surgeons from across the country lobby congress on various initiatives, most recently lobbying them to cover all child malformations until their operations are complete. When he isn't working, you can find him cooking or exploring the DC dining scene.
